Executive Overview

Stage III governs Truth Collective's evaluation of literature, editorial content, non-monetized pages, and all written or narrative materials that are not mechanical or engineered products. This system ensures that books, scripts, editorial series, and podcast materials meet professional standards for:

- Author authority
- Subject accuracy
- Depth of treatment
- Critical reception
- Reader longevity
- Category relevance
- Editorial rigor
- Ethical compliance

Stage III is built on recognized literary, academic, and editorial quality principles. It is designed to eliminate hype, popularity distortion, and subjective bias by grounding all evaluations in verifiable qualitative criteria.

1. Purpose of Stage III

Stage III exists because literature and editorial content cannot be evaluated using mechanical or engineering metrics. Instead, Truth Collective applies a structured, evidence-based qualitative system that mirrors professional editorial review, academic evaluation, and literary vetting standards.

This system governs:

- Featured books
- Category book lists
- Editorial articles
- Mental wellness content
- Self-help content
- Podcast scripts

- Narrative outlines
- Long-form written content
- Non-monetized pages

All content must meet Truth Collective's qualitative thresholds to be featured.

2. Research Phase

Every candidate book or editorial item begins with a structured research process.

Research Inputs

- Category relevance
- Bestseller performance
- Critical reception
- Author credentials
- Subject matter alignment
- Publication rigor
- Reader longevity
- Cross-category relevance

Truth Collective typically researches five to six candidates for every one item selected.

Research Evidence

- Publisher documentation
- Author background
- Academic or professional credentials
- Industry recognition
- Review longevity
- Category fit analysis

No item advances to review without clearing the research phase.

3. Reading & Review Phase

Candidates that pass research undergo direct review.

Review Requirements

- Full readthrough for serious candidates
- Accuracy verification
- Depth assessment
- Clarity evaluation
- Relevance confirmation

- Category alignment check

Truth Collective does not rely on summaries, excerpts, or marketing descriptions. Direct reading is required for any item under serious consideration.

4. The 21-Point Qualitative Evaluation Metric

Truth Collective evaluates every candidate using a structured 21-point qualitative scoring system. This metric ensures consistency, fairness, and professional rigor.

Evaluation Categories (21 Points Total)

Author Authority & Expertise

1. Professional credentials
2. Subject matter expertise
3. Industry or academic recognition

Content Quality & Depth

4. Accuracy of information
5. Depth of treatment
6. Completeness of subject coverage
7. Use of evidence or research
8. Logical structure and clarity

Reader & Critical Reception

9. Critical reviews over time
10. Reader reception longevity
11. Category relevance
12. Continued relevance after publication

Communication Quality

13. Clarity
14. Accessibility
15. Practical applicability
16. Narrative coherence

Ethical & Editorial Standards

17. Bias avoidance
18. Ethical presentation
19. Transparency
20. Alignment with Truth Collective category purpose

21. Overall editorial quality

Candidates must meet the required threshold across these 21 criteria to be featured.

5. Editorial Content Governance

Truth Collective applies the same qualitative rigor to editorial content as it does to literature.

Governed Editorial Content

- Self-Help & Mental Wellness hub
- The Ones Who Gave Everything
- The AI Mastery Podcast
- The Truth Untold
- Non-monetized pages
- Narrative series
- Long-form editorial articles

Editorial Standards

- Accuracy
- Clarity
- Ethical presentation
- Category alignment
- Reader value
- Professional tone
- Evidence-based content

Editorial content is evaluated independently of monetization. Truth Collective does not relax standards for non-revenue pages.

6. Script & Podcast Evaluation Standards

Scripts and podcast materials are evaluated using professional narrative and communication criteria.

Evaluation Criteria

- Structural coherence
- Clarity of message
- Subject accuracy
- Ethical presentation
- Audience relevance
- Narrative pacing
- Communication effectiveness

- Alignment with Truth Collective's mission

Scripts must meet the same qualitative thresholds as literature.

7. Disqualification Criteria

A book, script, or editorial item is disqualified if it exhibits:

- Significant factual inaccuracies
- Poor subject depth
- Weak author authority
- Misalignment with category purpose
- Ethical concerns
- Excessive bias
- Lack of relevance
- Poor reader longevity

Time invested in review does not guarantee inclusion.

8. Stage III Output

Stage III produces:

- Qualitative score
- Category relevance assessment
- Author authority evaluation
- Editorial quality determination
- Inclusion or exclusion decision
- Supporting rationale

This output forms the qualitative foundation of Truth Collective's final recommendation.

Conclusion

Stage III ensures that Truth Collective's literature, editorial content, and narrative materials meet professional standards for accuracy, depth, clarity, relevance, and ethical presentation. By applying a structured 21-point qualitative metric and rigorous editorial governance, Truth Collective maintains credibility, consistency, and trust across all non-mechanical content.
